

Congressman King votes against continuing resolution that irresponsibly exceeds the House passed budget by $24 billion

Washington, D.C.- Congressman Steve King (R-IA) released the following video statement discussing his vote against the continuing resolution that was passed by the House of Representatives this afternoon.

"The continuing resolution breaks the Ryan budget by $24 billion...We have to get our spending under control here in this United States Congress, and if I go along with this spending, never again in the rest of this Congress can I take a stand on other spending. I've said I will stick to the Ryan budget or less, I won't spend more. When they bring an appropriations bill that spends more, I'll vote no."
